Microsoft Portfolio Analyzer

The ProjectLink Portfolio Analyser is an easy way to ensure that all the projects in the organization are selected in a consistent way using predefined criteria. It uses a weighted factor scoring model and allows for scenario analysis of multiple portfolios and programmes of projects.

Most organizations have more ideas they want to translate into projects than they have capacity to execute. It is thus important to follow a consistent approach when possible projects are selected to ensure that only those projects that will add the most value to the business are selected. Projects are often selected without careful analysis of the benefits of the project and projects often make it into the execution pipeline because of pressure by an executive.

The ProjectLink Portfolio Analyser solves these projects by applying a mathematical approach to the selection of projects. By consolidating all the projects and project ideas in an organization into a model that allows one to score each project using a predefined set of criteria. Projects can be grouped into portfolios and programmes and a set of scoring criteria can be set up for each portfolio of projects.

The Portfolio Analyser is a web-based application and integrates into Microsoft Project Server. It can be used to log new projects into MS Project Server. The Portfolio Analyser can also be used without integration into MS Project Server.

Following is list of significant features of the portfolio analyzer:

- Multi-Level grouping of projects into programmes and portfolios
- Unique scoring criteria for each grouping
- Colour coding of types of types of projects
- Project control of projects in Microsoft Project Server through the Portfolio Analyser
- Project control of project in a simple directory structure
- Direct integration to the ProjectLink Dashboard
- Budgeted Cost of Work Scheduled (BCWS)
